P R E F A C E

Having unexpectedly come into possession of data showing the ancestry of Rev. Oramel Eleazer Wightman (father of my late wife) away back nearly to the first Wightman, it seemed to me a duty I owed to the family from whom came the woman who had been such a blessing to me in many ways, to put that data into permanent form for the benefit of generations yet to come.

There are no gaps in the "line" but plenty of data, such as dates here and there, are wanting. Blank pages have been left for the filling of such gaps if the information can be obtained, and for the continuation of the record as births, marriages, deaths, etc., shall make necessary.

I have made every effort to be correct but ever so I submit my work with fear and trepidation, -- it is so easy to make mistakes.

Respectfully,

FREDERICK GATES

Westfield, N.J.
January 1, 1935.

THE ENGLISH CONNECTIONS

The head of the American branch of the Wightman family whose line we are tracing, is Edward Wightman (1562 - 1612) of Burton-on-Trent, Stafford, England. He was the son of

(a) John Wightman of Wykin and Hinckley Leicestershire, who was the son of

(b) Thomas Wightman of Burbage, and he was the son of

(c) Richard Wightman of Burbage, whose wife was daughter and heiress of Lord Trussell. Richard was a son of

(d) Thomas Wightman of Elmstrope and Burbage in Leicestershire, and he descended from

(e) George Wightman, recorded as "Gentleman" - Manor of Ansley at Elmstrope, about A.D. 1400.

This is as far back as we can trace this line at present. There is a question whether the original Wightman was a Norman who followed William the Conqueror or an emigrant who entered England by way of the Isle of Wight and, hence, was called the "Wight Man".

Tradition handed down all the line to Oramel Eleazer Wightman from his ancestors, insists on the latter origin, and Oramel passed it on to his children. It looks probable.

THE WARRANT

THE KING to the sheriff of our city of Litchfield, GREETING;

WHEREAS the reverend father in Christ, Richard, by divine providence, of Coventry and Litchfield, Bishop, hath signified unto us, That he judicially proceeding according to the exigence of ecclesiastical canons and of the laws and customs of this Kingdom of England, against one EDWARD WIGHTMAN, of the parish of Burton-upon-Trent, in the diocese of Coventry and Litchfield, of and upon the wicked heresies of Ebion, Cirinthus, Valentinian, Arrius, Macedonius, Simon, Magnus of Manes, Manichees, Thetimus, and of the Anabaptists, and other arch-heretics, and moreover of other cursed opinions belched by the instance of Satan, excogitated and heretofore unheard of; the aforesaid EDWARD WIGHTMAN appearing before the aforesaid reverend father, and other divines and learned in the law assisting him in judgment, the aforesaid wicked crimes, heresies and other detestable blasphemies and errors, stubbornly and perniciously, knowingly and maliciously, and with a hardened heart, published, defended and dispersed; by definite sentence of the said divine father with the consent of the divines learned in the law aforesaid, justly, lawfully and canonically, against the said EDWARD WIGHTMAN in that part brought, stands adjudged and pronounced a heretick, and therefore as a diseased sheep out of the flock of the Lord, lest our subjects he do infect by his contagion, he hath decreed to be cast off and cut off.

WHEREAS the holy mother church hath not further in this part what it ought more to do and prosecute, the same reverend father, the same EDWARD WIGHTMAN as a blasphemous and condemned heretick, hath left to our secular power to be punished with the condign punishment as by the letters patent of the aforesaid reverend father, the bishop of Coventry and Litchfield, in this behalf thereupon made as certified to us in our chancery.

We, therefore, as the zealot of justice and the defender of the Catholick faith, and willing that the holy church and the rights and liberties of the same, and the catholick faith to maintain and defend, and such like heresies and errors everywhere, as much as in us lies, to root out and extirpate and heretickes so convict and condemn to punish with condign punishment, holding that such a heretick in the aforesaid form convict and condemned according to the customs and laws of this our Kingdom of England in this part accustomed, ought to be burned with fire.

We command thee that thou cause the said EDWARD WIGHTMAN, being in thy custody, to be committed to fire in some public and open place below the city aforesaid, for the cause aforesaid before people; and the same EDWARD WIGHTMAN in the same fire cause really to be burned in detestation of said crime, and for the manifest example of other Christians, that they may not fall into the same crime, and this no ways omit, under the peril that shall follow thereon.

Witness &c.

(28) REV. ORAMEL ELEAZER WIGHTMAN

(OBITUARY)

Father Wightman's parents evidently moved to Trenton, N.Y. some time after 1812 and this was his home until a year or so after his marriage when he moved to Hammond, N. Y.

This is supposed to have been the home of the parents of Mary VanAntwerp, the young woman whom he married and who became his most loyal and devoted helpmate for thirty-eight years until her death in 1864.

Not long after his marriage he was converted at a revival meeting held by Rev. A. J. Phelps at Sigourney School House near Hammond. His conversion was clear and thorough and he became a "new creature" indeed and never after longed for the "flesh pots" of Egypt.

He was early licensed to exhort, and then to preach, and in 1854 at Portland, N.Y. was ordained a local deacon of the M.E. church by Bishop Janes. He was true to his convictions and uncompromisingly devoted to the Master - a great worker in revivals and many were those won to Christ by his labors.

Sometime after 1846 he removed to Jordanville, N.Y. and during his residence there changed his business and kept country store for several years.

During the exciting days of the slavery discussion and the civil war, his home was the gathering place and public forum where the Wide Awakes (Rep.) and Little Giants (Dem.) argued and sometimes almost fought. He was the postmaster and during the war at mail time every day a crowd gathered to hear some one read from the paper the news from the front.

About the close of the war he sold his business to his son Roldan and for a few years was a harness maker; but about 1867 he remarried, removed to Mohawk, N. Y. and after his second wife passed away, lived with his son Olin until the end.

I confess with deepest regret my inability to get any clue whatever to data concerning his second wife.

Strong in his own convictions he was kind and tolerant to those with whom he could not agree. He had the respect of the whole community.

"Only a carpenter or a country merchant - just one of a thousand or ten thousand others"- O yes - true. But, too, one who dealt justly and kindly with his fellows and humbly, faithfully and reverently with his God - whose memory yields no sad regrets, no rank odors but a persistent, permanent, fragrant perfume.
